ALBANY, Jan. 16.—The composition of the Judicial Court of Appeals, created by the signed adoption of the Constitutional amendment last November, and to relieve the crowded calendar of the present court, will probably be announced by Gov. Hill to-morrow. Of the seven Judges to be selected can be definitely named, since either they or their intimate friends give positive assurance of the Governor's intention. They are as follows: Second district, Charles C. Brown of Newburgh; Third district, Alton C. Brown of Kingston; Fourth district, Joseph Potter of Catskill; Fifth district, Irving G. Vann of

The member from the Eighth district, it is generally believed, will be Albert Haight, a well known and popular young member of the bar, not yet being 40 years of age. His political composition of the court would be a Republican majority, as the members are Haight and Democrats Judges Brown, Parson and Bradley.

The presiding judge to be selected by the court, it is also presumed, will be a Republican. Judges Haight and Follett are the only two Associate Justices of the General Term among the four Republican Supreme Justices. The chief justice is a Republican, but full on Judge Follett because of his seniority in years and experience. It is generally agreed that neither Judge Daniels nor Judge which is now $6,000 per annum, will be raised to $10,000. The elevation of these Judges would not embarrass the Supreme Court, unless, possibly, in the third department, by the action of Judges Porter and Potter. This department, or "General Term," employs eighteen counties, and the Justices and associate Justices are hard worked.

Obituary.

Alexander Miller died of heart disease yes-lived the prosperous house of Miller & Grant, lace merchants, on Broadway, which continued to exist until his retirement ten years ago. He leaves a wife and a son.

William Morgan, a well-known gateman at the Pennsylvania depot in Jersey City, died at his home, 75 Madison avenue, Newark, yesterday morning, aged 75. He was a native of New York and had been in Newark for 25 years. He ran a stage line through Broad street, and was well known to everybody in the city. After his death he was buried in the city. He was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and he served faithfully until Saturday. He was stricken on Sunday morning, and died at his home.

Charles Lewis Brown, for five years one of the great teachers of the National League, died yesterday at the City

The Hotel Men Dine.

At the hotel men of Gotham dined last night at the fourth time of the season at the other at the square meal. The dinner was at Belmont's in its wonderful aggregation of good things, and its swarming flood of drinkables and good fellowship. The fourth time of the season was the first time that Belmont attributed to the fact that Belmont once recently been elected a member of the association. W. E. O. Smith were a master diamond plan that was the basis of the Tammany Hall delivered Hartling speech on political economy, and District Representative Fellows listed it unilaterally over Recorder of the Hall and the Tammany Hall General Committee. The Tammany Hall Committee, President Cunningham, Police Commissioner French, Sheriff Black, County Jail, and everybody else who knew what a good speech was and could make a speech was there.

Tammany's Committee of Twenty-four.
The Tammany Hall Committee of Twenty-four met last evening to complete the arrangements for meeting of the Committee on Organization to-morrow night. The interest of that meeting centres in the election of a successor to Mayor Grant, who was its chairman last year. Nothing definite was reached in er Croker. The Committee on Organization tomorrow will also have the job of settling the Sixty-third Congress between the veteran Spinola and the brave Hagan.

Sammy Sachs also met yesterday. Committee of Affairs of the House. Sherman was elected in place of the late John T. Tamm.

Justice John J. Gorman, Chief Sheriff Thomas F. Joy, and Bernard J. Martin were appointed a committee to look out for Tammany's share in the celebration of the inauguration of Washington.

A Proposed Statute of Nathan Hale.

Sen. Horatio C. King and Frederick S. Tallie, a committee of the Society of Sons of the Rev for their project of erecting a statue of Nathan Hale, patriot spy, who died regretting that he had only one life to give to his country. They have collected $100 of the $250 required and think that the erection of a site will help the good work on. The northeast corner of the new Ball Park at Broadway and Madison street would be a good site. The statue of Hale would be a fitting memorial to him. It would be a fitting memorial to him to have it here from time to time, and will have President of the Park Department with him to consider subject.

Bidding for $500,000.

The Indiana District Attorney.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Justice Harlan has named Solomon Claypool acting District Attorney for office in Indiana. Mr. Claypool's nomination for office has not been acted upon by the Senate. It is reported to make place for the late Attorney General Charles F. Smith, who has been discharged on account of his mental derangement.

he earth may have passed between the sun and the sun last night, as all the astronomical foretold, but the trusting people who went out to the thing done didn't see anything in the heavens but clouds.
